

Group C

Policy – How can stakeholders be persuaded to integrated e-tools into OSH policy and practice?

- Laws
 - e-government's law
 - other
- Influencing ppl - Local campaigns
- Tripartite
- Strong arguments
- Support from EU-OSHA
- Champion or leaders
- Pilot tools
- Best practices from other countries
- External bodies (e.g. SLIC), organisations etc

Sustainability – How can e-tools move from being a short-term project of being a long-term action?

- Financial support
- Stakeholder's ownership
- Showing the cost benefits to companies/ organisations
- Good evaluation on ongoing improvement – data needed
- Available to the public (example of professional use going to public)
- User friendly tool
- Increase the amount of users
- Daily tool
- Link with other sources & information

Feedback – How can 'big data' from e-tools provide feedback into policy and practice?

- Collection of data to improve the tool
- Presentations at conferences about the results
- Open source
- Showing issues arising from the field
- Showing where they will make inspections
- Infotainment (entertain and to inform)
- Information of your users (e.g. location)

Incentives – What incentives are needed to ensure end-users continue to use e-tools?

- Free seminars
- Counselling
- Promotion by labour inspections
- Interactive applications
- Daily basis
- Communication & promotion
 - mouth to mouth promotion
 - involve stakeholders
- Saving costs – value for the company/ organisation
- Campaigns in specific sectors
- Cooperation with insurance companies

Future – What changes are likely to occur that will help or hinder the integration of e-tools into policy?

What will help

- Digitalisation
- Translation options
- Software developments
- Education tool for children

What will hinder

- Software developments
- Cyber security, cloud systems, national legislation

Can the Commission give funding opportunities to EU MS?