

Conclusions

Elke Schneider

European Agency for Safety and Health at Work

Points to consider

- Broaden the perspective: groups, exposures, wider working environment
- Multiple exposures
- Broaden the use of data sources: approaches using worker surveys
- Consult worker experiences, worker's work biographies
- Many factors not REACH-related (diesel, silica, shift work, etc.)

Points to consider(2)

- Data should be generated for prevention
 - Sectoral approaches?
 - Hidden / forgotten issues and prevention
 - Use of data sources from other areas (employment data, cancer registries)
-
- Keep up the momentum