

National Labour Inspectorate and Institute for Corporate Sustainability and Responsibility organised an online discussion

Role and skills of an OSH expert in the context of new working life

27.04.2022

13:00-15:00

The discussion will be broadcast live by the State Labour Inspectorate
Youtube and Facebook account

You are good at spotting problems in your working environment. You can work not only with paperwork, systems and equipment, but also with people. You are patient and you can listen. But is that enough to protect your employees from workplace accidents and occupational diseases?

We will find the answers to these and other questions on 27 April at 13:00-15:00 in the online discussion “Role and skills of an OSH expert in the context of new working life” with:

- Linda Matisāne - National focal point manager for European Agency for Health and Safety at Work
- Ivars Vanadziņš - Academic Staff, Department of Occupational and Environmental Medicine
Director, Institute of Occupational Safety and Environmental Health
- Linda Šedlere - “Schwenk Latvija” Member of the Board, Human Resources and Administration, Schwenk Latvija
- Artūrs Putrālis - “Depo DIY” Head of the Department for a Safe Environment

Moderator - Dace Helmane, CEO of Institute for Corporate Sustainability and Responsibility

Register for the event here: <https://forms.gle/gDy8Nm7QPdxLGtkD8>