

The Air We Work In: Protecting Workers from Respirable Carcinogens

28 - 29 October, 2026

ÉIRE2026.EU
IRELAND2026.EU

Uachtaránacht na hÉireann ar
Chomhairle an Aontais Eorpaigh 2026
Irish Presidency of the Council of the European Union 2026

HSA

An tÚdarás Sláinte agus Sábháilteachta
Health and Safety Authority

The Health and Safety Authority (HSA) will host the Carcinogens Conference 2026, The Air We Work In: Protecting Workers from Respirable Carcinogens in Dublin as part of ongoing work under the Roadmap on Carcinogens and Ireland's EU Presidency priorities.

Register now

All participants must register in advance via the conference portal.

Register here

Why attend?

Join leading experts from Ireland and across Europe to explore practical solutions, emerging research and policy developments aimed at preventing occupational cancers and protecting workers from exposure to respirable carcinogens.

Where: Royal College of Physicians of Ireland, Dublin

Day 1: 28 October, 2026 | 12:00

Day 2: 29 October, 2026 | 08:30

Speakers:

Speakers include representatives from the EU commission, regulatory bodies, occupational health, EU-OSHA and academia.

Topics:

Topics include:

- Occupational cancer prevention
- European workers' exposure research
- Future occupational health risks and solutions
- Inspection case studies and regulatory practice
- The European Roadmap on Carcinogens